

have lovely designs in them.

The city itself for the most part extends for miles along the river, on hills. One street may be connected to another by a series of stairs. Most anywhere you can stand and see the streets above you and below you.

The buildings are built out of the same material that ground up makes white wash wash.

They are either pink yellow or blue. Of course the big important buildings are of marble or granite.

The Avenida de la Libertad is a beautiful broad Avenue with Islands in the middle.

On some of these are statues or fountains. On others are sidewalk cafes where you can buy Nicola (America's late sensation it says
